Head Boy's Message

It has not only been an honour but a privilege to represent Sterling Hall as Head Boy this year; it has been a learning experience that I will never forget. When I started Sterling Hall in grade 1, I was just one of a group of little boys starting school. By the time I finished Grade 8, all of us had been nurtured, mentored, instructed and well-prepared for our future in higher education. To attend Sterling Hall is a gift given to us by our parents and a trust that was fulfilled by the dedicated teaching staff and community of Sterling Hall. Good luck to all my fellow graduates. I will never forget your friendship, good times and great support. My one wish is that we all stay in touch through the next stage of our lives.

Cheers,
Geoffrey Williams

Principal's Message

One of the pleasures that falls to me annually as SHS Principal is to write a message which introduces the Yearbook to the reader. Together with the Head Boy's Message, some of the individuality of this year is expressed in words and then is reinforced by the content of the book.

It is striking to look back at previous years and see how far SHS has come. The Principal's Message in the 1997 Yearbook reminds us that no two years are the same, and that "...the different personalities, the changing events and the evolution of the school create an individual flavour which is unique." - a comment from ten years ago which was true then and is true now. Just as this year has been, it was also a year of growth for SHS - but growth of a different kind. The student population increased to 165 - the total Grade 8 class had 18 students and the Grade 1 class had a total of 11! Indeed, the only grade that had two classes was Grade 2.

And so from humble first steps in 1987 and emerging growth in 1997, this year SHS can really celebrate its coming of age. Our school is full of bright and enthusiastic students; our Faculty and Staff make up a wonderful team of caring people; with the additions of the Discovery Centre last year and the Music Centre this year, our buildings now offer facitilities that are the envy of many of our brother and sister CAIS schools; and I am proud to say that at the centre of the SHS experience, the same core values are treasured today in much the same way as they were when Darlene Ferris opened her school.

We have enjoyed a strong year. Read this Yearbook and as you do, reflect back on the memories that are important to you. And smile.

Speech

Competition

Every year, in every grade from 3-8, students write a speech about any topic they want. The speech has to be from 2-3 minutes long. After each person presents to the class, the teacher narrows it down to 3 people in every class. The winners recite their speeches at the finals, in front of the school. The Grade 7 and 8 winners from the finals move on to the SHS Invitational Public Speaking Competition with many other CIS schools.

It is our pleasure to thank the committed and dedicated boys that have worked diligently be The Voice of The Students.

This year was our third annual CIS Student Leadership Conference. It was attended by students from other Independent Schools, and student leaders gathered at SHS to learn about leadership at other schools. This year we would like to thank Ms. Martha Hall from Greenwood College who was our keynote speaker. Ms. Hall spoke to the students about how to be a great leader and how to be a good follower. Next year, we will pass this torch on to St Andrews College, and they will take their turn at hosting this wonderful and exciting opportunity to learn from other student leaders.

The Council representatives this year were able to accomplish many exciting Do-able Goals. The process begins with a classroom meeting. Each Council representative collects all student goals and bring this information back to a Council Meetings and together we compile the information and vote on which goals are do-able. The members of the council then form working committees, and meet with members of the Faculty who assist them with this process. The goals are then presented to Mr. Robinson, and the Council goes to work to make them happen!

Some of our accomplishments: through the proceeds from movie days, pajama days, freezie sales, and hotdog sales, we bought new tetherballs for outside, and this year we presented Ernesto with tickets to a professional soccer game.

The Head boy, Geoffrey Williams, leads the Council Meetings however, he could not have done this without the support from the other prefects and enthusiastic participation from the entire team.

Citizenship Ceremony

On May 25, SHS hosted the third Canadian Citizenship Ceremony in the school's history. Twenty-four men and women were officially sworn in as Canadian Citizens. A number of students shared their thoughts and writings on "What it Means to be a Canadian". Andrew Firstbrook, Andrew Jamieson, and Mrs. NIcoll each spoke about the importance of their own transition to citizenship in this country. It was a moving and inspirational morning.

independence

'The noise of footsteps echoing around you is one of the first things that travel into your head when you enter the Art Studio,' Andrew Steep writes about his experience in the classroom. 'The room is filled with the aroma of paint and glue; the sound of papers being shuffled are like ocean waves hitting the beach, and flowing from the Art teachers' office. The big canvasses with students' work loom over you as you admire them. The ceiling looks as high as the sky, and it wouldn't be a surprise to see a cloud or two. Four tables are spread out in the middle of the room with cheerful students working at them. The big windows at the back let sunlight flow into the class freely. The students sketch in their sketchbooks, creating a fragile scratching noise that becomes recognized as the birth of a masterpiece. The students listen to their teachers as the next assignment is given, and soon the room is filled with not just sunlight, but luscious greens and reds and blues coming off their paintings and pictures, making the studio come to life.'

STEWARDSHIP

Our unique Stewardship program was developed to help our students become young men of value and character. It offers our boys many opportunities to engage in activities that are based upon understanding others and addresses our commitment to nurturing, as stated in our school mission. There are three components to the Stewardship program: Community Awareness (character education), Self-Awareness (guidance education), and Physical Awareness (health education). During our three Stewardship Days, the students celebrated the program by taking their Stewardship Seeds home and completing an assigned task with their parents.

GLOBAL CITIZENSHIP

Our students are becoming more aware of their responsibilities and opportunities as global citizens. This theme has developed in many ways:

ASSEMBLY SPEAKERS: Andrew Leyland, SHS old boy, re: working in Indian slums; Gordon Cressy, President of Nelson Mandela Children's Fund; John Ndichu, Schools Without Borders, re: Nairobi slums; Lorna Pitcher, supporter of Ugandan orphans; Letters from Canadian soldiers in Afghanistan
CLASSROOM SPEAKERS: Valerie Johnson, founder of Amani Children's Home, Tanzania; Rudi Garfur, re: breaking colour bar in Major Leagues; John Ndichu, Right to Play Spokesman from Nairobi.
VISITING PERFORMERS: Kris McKool, "Celebrations of the Global Village"; Kahurangi Maori dance troupe from New Zealand; Ballet Creole, Carribean dance troupe
BULLETIN BOARDS: Are You a Global Citizen? Read, Learn, Care, Help; Right to Play.
GLOBAL ISSUES LIBRARY COLLECTION: McMurchy family donation
CITIZENSHIP SWEARING-IN CEREMONY
PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT: Keynote Speaker: Sandra Kiviaho, re: Global Education.

Thank you, parents, for your support of my new career advocating for the children of Uganda.

The Sterling Hall School promotes understanding of the differences and diversities of others primarily through our Service Learning Stewardship Program. Each grade completes different initiatives throughout the year that involve preparation and reflection as a part of the classroom experience. These projects are long-term and entail relationship building with others in the world community. The learning component (preparation and reflection) is a part of the classroom experience. The following are some of the service learning activities that were conducted during the 2006-2007 academic year that involved students in the community beyond the school:

Meals on Wheels Tray Favours and Tree Ornaments
Evas Place Teen Shelter Stocking Stuffing, Stocking Sewing
Book Drive for First Nations Schools
Meadow Creek Clean-up
Care Packages to Canadian Soldiers in Afghanistan
North York Harvest Food Drive
Floyd Honey Foundation Walk Home Program for Homeless Youth

Students take part in many whole school community-learning initiatives, such as listening to a variety of speakers and watching presentations from individuals and groups from around the world. Below are the presentations and events that were enjoyed this past year:

Terry Fox Run
UNICEF
Speakers at Assemblies (George Chuvalo, Isadore Sharp, visiting authors and artists)
Free the Children Tsunami School Fundraiser
Nelson Mandela Children's Fund Toonie Day

Thank you to Community Service Prefect, Jonathan Zaid, Character Education Prefect, Nicholas Sarjeant, and their Captains Daniel Fishbayn and Fraser Grimes for their effort and enthusiasm.

Makers of this Fine Publication

We, the Editors, would like to thank the numerous people who have helped with the Yearbook this year. The seven students who participated in the Yearbook Elective were hardworking, creative, and quick to learn. Mme Nathalie Ostroff kindly joined us this year and provided a supportive, editorial eye as she helped us organize the many photos that came into our files. We would like to thank Lee Freedman for sharing her photographic expertise with our boys on a regular basis, and along with nearly every teacher in the school, contributing photos to the Yearbook files; we thank them, and encourage everyone to submit great photos in the future. We are also very excited to welcome Ms Kerri Shave into the Yearbook fold. She will be joining us in the fall. We hope you enjoy this 20th edition of the SHS Yearbook.

Ms Laing and Ms Robinson

This year 7 boys from Grade 6-8 worked all year on this 20th edition of the SHS yearbook. We would like to thank our Editors-in-Chief, M Robinson, Ms Laing, and Mme Ostroff for their guidance, inspiration, and help during our Yearbook Elective. We hope you enjoy all of our hard work and look back fondly at your memories in the future.

Thanks,

Scott Boas on behalf of David Hay, Jonathan Zaid, Daniel Hurvitz, Aiden Lupyrypa, Luke Stein and Ian Johnston.
